To the community and friends – A big thank you for all your help during and after the fire on September 5, 2009. To the Eatonia Volunteer Fire Department for their time at both fires. To the EMTs, Beckie and the ambulance crew, Lorna and Kim for care during and after the fire. To my neighbours that brought water trucks to help fight the fire. Debbie, Dawn and Lorne for the help with the insurance and recovering of my personal ID. To all my neighbours and friends for the donation of clothing, food and support during this time. To my family for their support and help and for staying with Brad and Sharon till I get my other house up and running. I hope to rebuild in the future at the same site. Please stop by anytime. I am glad to live in a small community for all the help that everyone is so willing to give.

And again, thank you.

Kevin

EATONIA OASIS LIVING NEWS OCTOBER 2009

October has passed bringing with it shorter days, crisp fall air and the deep rich colors of autumn. Our residents have enjoyed watching the season change and the continuous weather surprises have kept everyone wondering what will come next. This month we celebrated Thanksgiving, and enjoyed reminiscing about turkeys and pumpkin pies. The residents kept busy with numerous activities which included Wii bowling, manicure day, bingo, balloon badminton, "guess the word" game, and attending the various church services. A few highlights included a very enjoyable music night on October 5. Thank you to Tilly Reikert, Mary Skjei, Walter Assmus, Merv Viczko, Florence Palmer, and Dennis Kanasevich for sharing your wonderful musical talents with us; it was much appreciated by all. We also enjoyed a cinema afternoon, and watched "Anne of Green Gables" while sipping tea and munching on popcorn. Many of our residents shared their memories of reading the "Anne" books when they were young. The residents also enjoyed two craft afternoons with Marie Smith and Heather Bews, where they created little "Turkey" candy dishes, and Halloween pumpkin door hangers.

On behalf of everyone at EOL we are pleased to welcome two new residents to our facility; Guy and Arlene Sabey from Leader, who moved in on October 3rd. We celebrated one birthday this month, Arlene Sabey's on October 5. Thank you to the Lutheran church ladies who hosted a birthday party on October 22. This month we said farewell to Elsie Calvert who moved to Rosetown, and Joseph Stang who moved to Macklin. We will miss being gifted with Elsie's beautiful homemade scarves, and miss trying to win at Wii bowling with Joe. EOL sends our heartfelt condolences to the family of Guy Boisvert who passed away on October 17. As October comes to an end we have a total of 21 residents in our facility. We are also pleased to welcome a new member of staff to our team; Heather Bews who is the new Activity Director/Administrative Assistant.

The residents and staff always enjoy seeing and visiting with people from our community. If anyone would like to come in and volunteer please give Heather a call at 967-2447 to set up a time. If anyone in the community is in need of a walker, electric bed or scooters please call Krista at 967-2447. There are still 3 walkers, 1 electric bed and 1 scooter available for resale. Please call the office and set up a time to view these items.

The Board of Directors would like to tender repairs at EOL. These repairs include but are not limited to repairing and patching walls, replacing ceiling tiles, and painting. Please contact Krista at 967-2447 to set up a time to view the required work. The tender for repair quotes will be open until November 13, 2009 at 4:00 pm.

Donations we received throughout the month of October include:

- May Martin – sandwiches, watermelon
- Bill Wardill, Cecelia Pincemin, Allene Douglas, Lloyd Adams, Ed Campbell – tomatoes
- Lorraine Bews – corn
- Eatonia Hutterites – buns
- Trudy Bews – quilts
- Bredy's - roast, corn, potatoes, dessert
- Eaton School Cross Country Running Team – muffins

Pandemic H1N1 Influenza Common Questions

What is H1N1 Influenza Virus?

• H1N1 refers to a subtype of influenza A viruses. This is a genetic mix of viruses that causes respiratory illness.

What is a Pandemic?

• A pandemic is when there is widespread transmission of the virus from person to person in several countries throughout the world.

• A pandemic refers to the levels of virus activity and not the severity of the disease.

How is H1N1 spread?

H1N1 influenza is spread the same way as regular seasonal influenza.

- It can be spread directly from person to person through coughing or sneezing.
- It can be spread indirectly by touching contaminated items then touching the eyes, nose or mouth.
- Transmission is most likely to occur during the first few days of obvious illness. It is recommended that persons who are ill with influenza symptoms should stay home from work or school and limit contact with others and not return to routine activities outside the home until they are symptom free or for 7 days, whichever is shorter.
- Influenza is a respiratory illness and cannot be spread through food.

How do I protect myself from getting H1N1?

There are very simple but effective measures that everyone can use to reduce their risk of getting sick.

- Wash hands frequently with soap and warm water.
- Cough and sneeze into a tissue, throw the tissue away in the garbage and wash hands, or cough and sneeze into your arm.
- Clear shared surfaces frequently, such as telephones, computer keyboards, door handles etc.
- Stay two metres or six feet away from a coughing or ill person if you are able.
- Stay home if you are ill with mild to moderate symptoms.

What are the symptoms?

- Sudden onset of fever and cough.
- There may also be sore throat, muscle aches, joint pain, chills, fatigue or weakness.
- Vomiting and/or diarrhea may be present and fever may not be prominent.

How serious is H1N1 influenza?

- Most H1N1 illness to date in Saskatchewan and Canada has been mild to moderate.
- Severity can range from mild to severe and appears to be more severe in people with underlying illnesses including chronic lung diseases, heart disease, diabetes, asthma, immune deficiency, and in the 2nd and 3rd trimester of pregnancy.

EATONIA NEWS BULLETIN

NOVEMBER 2009

When should I go see a doctor?

You do NOT need to see a doctor if your symptoms are mild or moderate.

You should see a doctor as soon as possible if you have:

- difficulty breathing
- shortness of breath
- chest pain
- severe or persistent vomiting
- Adults- high fever that lasts more than two days
- Children – severe tiredness
- confusion or difficulty waking an ill person

If you do visit your doctor, you will not necessarily be tested to confirm you have the H1N1 strain of influenza.

Seasonal Influenza Immunization

Will there still be a regular flu shot?

- Seasonal influenza immunization will still be available as in previous years.
 - The seasonal flu shots contain immunization for three circulating influenza strains as determined by the World Health Organization.
 - The Government of Saskatchewan pays for seasonal influenza immunizations for people in high risk groups which include people over age 65, children between 6 months and 24 months, pregnant women, people with chronic health conditions such as asthma, diabetes, heart and lung disease, health care workers and workers involved in the destruction of poultry infected with avian influenza (bird flu).
 - Many employers also offer free seasonal flu shots to their employees.
 - Seasonal influenza immunization is available to anyone for a small fee.
- Contact your local public health office in your health region.

Will the seasonal flu shot protect me against H1N1?

- No. There is no immunity to H1N1 influenza in the regular seasonal flu shot.

Do I need to get both seasonal and H1N1 influenza immunizations?

- Immunization for both H1N1 and seasonal influenza is highly recommended.
- Immunization is especially important if you are at a higher risk of developing serious disease – such as if you have chronic health conditions like asthma,

- diabetes, heart and lung disease or are pregnant.
- Seasonal influenza immunization is especially recommended for people over age 65 as well.
