Spring has arrived at E.O.L! The Residents had an exciting month celebrating the Easter Season, and welcoming warmer sunny days. On April 15th the United Church ladies hosted our monthly birthday party. Happy Birthday to Alice Redstone (April 3rd) and Laviah Hayes (April 8th). The Birthday gals, Residents and visitors had a wonderful afternoon listening to music, dancing, and visiting together over tea and birthday cake. Thank you to the United Church ladies for hosting the party and arranging for a band to come out from Kindersley.

This month we said farewell to Fay Campbell who relocated to the Heritage Manor in Kindersley, and we welcomed Mollie Helmen

Jump in, Saskatchewan! Saskatchewan in Motion:

We're challenging Saskatchewan families to do just one thing to make sure kids can move every day.

Research tells us this generation – your kids – could have a shorter and less healthy life than their parents, thanks in part to inactivity. Only 15% of Saskatchewan kids are active enough to meet national guidelines.

Are you OK with that?

Thank you

To the community of Eatonia & surrounding area,

I sincerely thank-you for your overwhelming generosity and encouragement as Eric and I were preparing for marriage. I very much appreciate those who shared kind words, attended my bridal shower, and "showered" me with gifts. Eric and I put the gift money towards a new bed and a BBQ which we look forward to enjoying this summer.

I am very grateful to call such wonderful community home. As I have been away from Eatonia a few years now, I am aware of how unique the "small town spirit" truly is. My hope is that I can give back to those around me the same way you have all taught me.

Eric and I were married in Saskatoon Feb. 13th. We traveled to Banff for our honeymoon and enjoyed snowboarding, a dogsled ride, and taking in the mountain views, we continue to reside in Saskatoon where I am studying medicine and Eric works as a physiotherapist. Please accept our heartfelt thank-you. We would like to make a donation to the Eatonia Recreation Board in lieu of individual thank- you cards.

Deeply Rooted Citizens

Fifty-two years ago, many of the trees on small town boulevards in Saskatchewan were Russian Poplars or Manitoba Maples. (The Manitoba Maple of 2010 is a much more respectable individual than the wild Manitoba Maples which were used in shelterbelts early in the past century and whose descendants, unfortunately, are still being planted today.) The standard hedging plants of an earlier time were unruly caraganas and madly suckering lilacs. In the Plant'em and Forgot'em School of Tree Care of the time, these four cultivars had a fair survival rate.

For most of the past century, most people in small towns had little useful knowledge of trees and shrubs. A tree was a tree and a bush was a bush. The requirements for establishing and maintaining what is now called the Urban Forest have become more sophisticated. Trees and shrubs are citizens, too. Some are desirable citizens and some aren't. Manchurian elms aren't. They were planted in Eatonia because they were mistakenly advertised as superior boulevard trees. Like American Elms, they are not to be pruned after March 31 or before September 1. This restriction is intended to limit the spread of the Elm Bark Beetle which can carry the bacillus of the Dutch Elm Tree Disease. (In the 1960s, this disease killed 17,000 of the 23,000 elm trees in Great Britain.) Global warming appears to be bringing warm-climate insect pests north and the globalization of commerce brings new pests from far away places. At risk now in Eatonia are birch trees and the ash trees which have been the preferred boulevard trees for many years.

It is necessary for the town to experiment with different varieties of trees on boulevards and other public areas. New plantings will be marked with orange-tipped stakes in order to identify trees which summer employees will be required to water.

Householders who want to live in a healthy urban forest should keep the following considerations in mind:

1. Drought kills trees. The town cannot water every boulevard tree. The role of citizens in protecting trees from drought and physical damage is very important.
2. Dripping trees, usually elms or maples are under attack by aphids. Aphids can be killed by spraying trees with soapy water. The same spray is effective against aphids and spider mites in evergreens. Try to avoid using malathion, particularly on evergreens.
3. If you can't identify the tree you wish to prune, the Town Office can arrange to have it identified.

Communities in Bloom

It is again time to begin planning for the beautification of our community. We are again requesting everyone's help. In order to do this, we are going to try some different ideas – such as competition for the:

- “Best Bloomin Business”
- “Best Bloomin Yard” &
- “Best Bloomin Block”

Therefore please keep this in mind when you are cleaning up your yard and planting your flowers beds and pots.

More information will follow regarding the above projects.

Let's work together and make this another successful program to inspire pride in our community, while making it a neat, clean, tidy and beautiful place to live.
